The Delta Ditch Run starts in the San Francisco Bay and sails up the Delta and finishes at the Stockton Sailing Club. In the past, this event has attracted over 200 boats with racers from across the country showing up for this generally downwind 65-mile race. The strongest wind is usually at the start of the race. As you get into the Delta the temperature rises and turns into a t-shirt and shorts kind of day with plenty of competition and great breeze all the way to the finish line. The after-race party and BBQ make a perfect finish.
